AIM OF THE CONFERENCE

Biomass gasification is a key technology for biomass utilization in the future. All forms of energy currently used can be produced via conversion of solid biomass into syngas: heat, electricity and synthetic biofuels. In former years, the main focus of R&D in the field of biomass conversion was on heat and electricity production. This was the topic of several conferences.

Today, things have changed. Syngas production, syngas cleaning and syngas utilization are subject of research programs in several countries and enormous progress has been achieved in this field in the recent years. Furthermore, polygeneration is the key word for future efficient and sustainable biomass utilization.

The main aim of the conference is to present the current state-of-the-art of syngas production, syngas cleaning and syngas utilization. Furthermore, to offer a platform for exchange of information, results and experiences as well as networking.

Therefore, national and international researchers as well as industrial representatives from the manufacturer and utility side are invited to contribute to the success of the conference.

PROGRAM

The three-day program for the conference includes:

- Overview lectures describing the state-of-the-art in different technologies
- Oral presentations on research, development and demonstration projects
- Poster presentations on research, development and demonstration projects
- A Workshop on Health, Safety and Environment aspects of biomass gasification plants - this workshop is jointly hosted by the EU project "Gasification Guide"
- An excursion to demonstration plants - optionally on the fourth day
