

Best Young Scientists Paper Awards

Awards will be given for the best young scientist's papers at ICSAM-2007. Awards will be given for the best three oral presentations and another three awards will be given for the best poster presentations. PhD students are eligible provided they are enrolled at universities at the time of submitting their abstract and are the first author and presenter of the paper.

PhD students may be nominated by their advisors. The deadline for applications is the same as the full paper submission deadline. Papers are submitted in the normal way.

Selection guidelines are:

1. The technical merit of the work .
2. The significance and contribution to the state of the art of the findings.
3. Presentation quality includes clarity, organization, audio-visual quality, and timing.

A brief letter to ensure the student status from the advisor will be required at application.

In the hope that many young scientists will apply to this award please encourage them.
